CREATIVE COOPERATION IN CULTURAL HERITAGE

Newsletter N°7 - October 2013

CreativeCH is a FP7 project funded by the European Commission. The views and opinions expressed in this publication are the sole responsibility of the author and do not necessarily reflect the views of the European Commission.

Culturelink, the Network of Networks for Research and Cooperation in Cultural Development, will include information about the Peer Learning Network in the next issue of Culturelink C-News (no.83/October 2013). The information will be available soon at this address: <http://www.culturelink.org/news/c-news/>

The Cultural Development Database of Culturelink, dedicated to scholars and cultural workers searching for partners in cultural development research and cooperation projects in different sectors of the arts and culture on an international level, could be very useful also for our Peer learning members. It contains information on more than 1,500 cultural networks, scientific and educational institutions worldwide, active in the field of cultural development and policy, describing their general profile, publications, artistic activities, international cultural cooperation, contact information, etc.

Business Models for Creative Cooperation

Download the presentations performed by Laurie Neale, Heike Oevermann, Lars Scharnholtz, Eusebi Casanelles, Jörn Harfst and Joana Branco Gomes at the workshop Business Models for Creative Cooperation: http://www.creative-heritage.eu/workshop\_businnes\_models0.html

The presentations focus on how to transfer and stimulate the uptake of good practices and new creative ideas in the revitalization and communication of industrial heritage sites, how to forge public-private partnerships, how to involve the larger public, and so forth.
